MULBERRY TREES, For Silk Growers.

8,000 Chinese Mulberry Trees, the (genuine Morus Multicaulis,) some of these Trees have grown 4½ Feet high, the present season, and the leaves are 11 inches wide, and 12 long. Those trees were raised by layers buttings, and by grafting stocks of the white mulberry, and some of each kind have grown more than 3 feet high the present season.

The Chinese Mulberry is considered by experienced Silk Growers to be vastly superior to any other that is known, both on account of the quality of the silk, and the quantity of the leaves produced upon an acre, and the facility in gathering, over the common White Mulberry, as it is found that 5 pounds of leaves may be gathered from the Chinese, with the same labor that would gather one pound from the white. Any person setting out the Chinese Trees, can feed worms from them the first season.—ALSO, 50 Trees of the Osier, or packthread willow.

Any person desirous of commencing the Silk growing business, would do well to call and examine the above Trees; and any information will be communicated gratuitously to purchasers, in relation to raising Trees, and feeding Silk worms, by

JONATHAN DENNIS jun.

NEW STORE, AND NEW GOODS, At No. 158, Thames-Street.

DANIEL B. DAVIS, & Co.

Have the pleasure to inform their Friends and the Public,

THAT they have opened the Store No. 158, Thames-st. opposite Mr. E. A. Sherman's Dry goods store, with a first rate Assortment of fresh Goods, comprising every description of Ladies, Misses, Children's, Men's and boys Boots and Shoes fresh from the manufacturers, and in point of beauty and variety, are not surpassed in this Town, all of which will be sold at fair prices, and as low as at any other Store in Newport. They will only at this time remark, that their hopes of obtaining, and retaining the patronage of the public, are founded on the principle by which they are determined to carry on their business—by supplying Boots and Shoes of the best quality—procuring styles of the first class, and contenting themselves, although every thing is at the highest notch, with moderate profits—which they conceive to be the best guarantee of giving satisfaction, and meeting the competition of the present day.

FISKE Medical Prize Questions.

THE TRUSTEES OF THE FISKE FUND awarded, at the Annual Meeting of the Rhode-Island Medical Society, holden in Newport, on the 28th of June, 1837, their third premium being Forty Dollars to DAVID KING, M. D. of Newport, for the best Dissertation on Cholera Infantum, and their fourth premium, being also forty dollars, to JACOB FULLER, M. D. of Providence, for the best Dissertation on Delirium Tremens.

They now propose to the members of the Society the following questions, (selected by the former Trustees,) for 1837—'38, viz:—

Question 1st—What are the causes and nature of that disorder, incident to puerperal women, characterized by inflammation, and ulceration of the mucous membrane of the mouth, and fauces, anorexia, emaciation, and diarrhœa, and which frequently terminates fatally; and what is the best mode of treatment to be employed therein?

Question 2nd. What are the causes, nature and best mode of treatment of Scarlatina Anginosa?

It is the wish of the Trustees that the Dissertations should possess as little of a theoretical and as much of a practical character as possible; and that their authors avoid entering minutely into a history of the diseases, unless there be some special reason for so doing; as for instance may exist with reference to the first Question now propounded; it is also recommended that they avoid crowding their productions with a detail of recorded and easily accessible cases. As all of these points will be borne in mind in making the adjudication, competitors are advised to dwell no more upon them, than may be necessary for a clear understanding of the subject, and of the principles by which they were guided in the selection of the treatment by them recommended.

For the best Dissertation on each of the above Questions, the Trustees will award and pay the sum of Fifty Dollars, or will present a gold medal of equal value, at the option of the author.

Every competitor for the premium or premiums, it is expected will conform to the following regulations, viz:

1st. He is requested to forward to one of the Trustees, on or before the first day of May, 1838, free of all expenses, a copy of his Dissertation, with a motto written thereupon, and also accompanying it a sealed letter having the same motto inscribed upon the outside, and his name and place of residence within. Both Dissertation and letter must be written in a clear and legible manner.

2nd. Neither a name nor any other mark shall be put upon the Dissertation, whereby the author may be known to the Trustees.

3d. Previously to receiving the premium awarded, the author of each successful Dissertation must transfer to the Trustees, in behalf of the Rhode-Island Medical Society, all his right, title and interest in and to the same, for the use, benefit and behoof of the Fiske Fund.

The letters accompanying the unsuccessful Dissertations will be destroyed by the Trustees, unopened; and the Dissertations may be procured by their respective authors, from the Trustee to whom they were directed if application be made therefor within three months from the annual meeting; but all such as remain uncalled for, after the expiration of the time here specified, will be considered as property of the Society, to be disposed of such a manner as may be deemed most advisable.

DUTIES OF WOMAN.

We are indebted to the Mercantile Journal, (says the Boston Courier of Sept. 1st,) for the following extract from a Sermon delivered at the church in Bowdoin street, by its minister, the Rev. H. Winslow. It contains a merited rebuke on those women who are perpetually exhibiting themselves before the public as officers of societies, and aspirants for civil and political distinction. Mr. Winslow deserves the thanks of the community for his independence in thus coming forward to check the mischief produced by female ambition and imprudence.

"The physical constitution of the sexes plainly indicates that, as a general rule, the more severe manual labors, the toils of the field, the mechanic arts, the cares and burdens of mercantile business, the exposures and perils of absence from home, the duties of the learned professions, devolve upon man, while the more delicate and retired cares and labors of the household devolve upon woman.

"The intellectual and moral constitution of the sexes, as well as the bible, instructs us that all the affairs of state, both civil and political, all the affairs of the church, as respects both government and public teaching, all the enterprises for evangelizing and reforming the world, all the more public literary and religious institutions, especially those embracing both sexes, should be headed and controlled by man; while the modest and retiring, though not less valuable and powerful influences of her personal character and conversation upon her domestic circle her neighbors and associates, and through them, upon the world, together with the fruits of her intellect imparted, not in public lectures, but by private instruction, or communicated to the world through the medium of the press, belong to woman."

"But let it not be supposed that her agency is to be restricted to mere temporal affairs. She ought not, like a sister of old, be 'cumbered with much serving' to the neglect of other and higher duties.—To 'look well to the ways of her household and eat not the bread of idleness, to see that whatever her husbands provides tells to advantage in the neat and tasteful apparel, the well-spread table, the comfort and happiness of her family, is of course a duty never to be neglected; but more, much more that this remains for her to do.

It is her's also to nourish and adorn the young and growing minds; to cause her instructions to distil upon them the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as showers that water the earth; to bend and direct the infant twig in the way it should grow, that it may shoot erect towards heaven; to put forth a mother's restraining and elevating influence upon her sons, that they 'may be as plants grown up in their youth,' and to bestow a mother's peculiar guardianship and delicate care upon her daughters that 'they may be as corner-stones polished after the similitude of a palace;' to exert a holy influence upon her husband, and by her sweet and tender sympathies to calm his anxious mind, smooth his ruffled brow, and cheer him in the path of self-denying duty and of high endeavor; to diffuse all around her, as she mingles in society, the pure and mighty influences of female piety, always savoring of delicacy, modesty, good sense, intelligence and transparent benevolence; and all this if you please, adorned with a finished culture, sparkling with chastened and refined wit, and attended with whatever may be most attractive and commanding in the peculiar graces and beauties of the female character—these are the noblest virtues of woman, these are what render her what she was made to be, if we may credit the bible, the help that is 'meet' or suitable for man such a help as he needs. And who will say that they are not as important, as honorable as elevated, and that they do not invite and give ample scope to as high intellectual and moral cultivation, as the distinguishing duties of men?

How sadly then do they mistake, who suppose that the sacred writers depress the female sex, when they so much restrict their influence to personal, essential intrinsic elevation and goodness. This in fact is the only true excellence, the most glorious of all power. Even the MAN who must needs stretch for an office, or covet some public notoriety to make himself felt in the world, or to secure honor, is but a sorry man; how much more is she but a sorry WOMAN, who must needs resort to these adventitious means of influence or distinction. No; so far far from depressing the female sex, it was the wise intent of Providence in this arrangement to ELEVATE her to the highest point of the most excellent worth and influence; to protect her, who was to be the model of all that is lovely in character, and the source of the most transforming and benign influence upon the world, from all temptation to seek the more outward and vulgar forms of honor—to shine in the adventitious distinctions of office, to challenge for her fair name a place in the rude ballot-box, or among the candidates for public office, or in the noisy halls of state; to covet for herself a share with these who would shine in public exploits Her's was to be pre eminently the INTRINSIC worth, the ESSENTIAL honor the pure MORAL influence of PERSONAL EXCELENCE, always unsparing, always gentle and kind, always full of mercy and good fruits; whose subject is always most loved and admired AT HOME, and by all who know her. Who can tell how great the influence, how wide and lasting the blessing, which the woman of such a character will bequeath to the world or how radiant the glory with which Christ will adorn her head in the last day.

"But oh, how falleth from this high elevation is she, when impatient of her proper sphere, she steps forward to assume the duties of the man; and impelled by false zeal, with conscience misguided does as even man ought to do; when forsaking the domestic hearth, her delicate voice is heard from house to house, or in social assemblies, rising in harsh unnatural tones of denunciation against civil laws and rulers, against measures involving political and state affairs, of which she is nearly as ignorant as the child she has left at home in the cradle; against the churches and ministers, perhaps her own pastor, and certainly any who dissent from her views; expecting to reform politics and churches, and to put down every real and supposed evil in them, by the right arm of female power, and clamorous for the organization of female societies for this specific object; not slow to anathematize all who do not submit to her dictation, in the stereotype phraseology of certain modern charity, as 'time-serving men,' and 'canting hypocrites;' and withall very sure that the world will never go right till women take the lead. What a sad wreck of female loveliness is she then! She can hardly conceive how ridiculous she appears in the eyes of all sober, discreet, judicious Christian men, or how great the reproach she brings upon her sex. Despite of gallantry, her power over the minds of men is then at end; she must henceforth, 'fight as one that beateth the air.' Men will smile or pity, and let her pass on; for to expostulate or argue, they will soon find to be vain, inasmuch as she is certainly right, has nothing to learn, and is best only on teaching."

Speculations and Projects.—The following remarks from Blackwood's Magazine, may be interesting and useful to Americans at the same time:—

"There are years, which have like ages, their characteristics. The year 1825, was the well known year of panic. It was also the year of projectors. The plan set on foot for getting rid of the national money, were on the most gigantic scale, and it was computed (if we do not much mistake) that the capital, if fully subscribed, would have amounted to three hundred millions sterling Some of this extravagance was undoubtedly due to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, now Lord Ripton, who thence obtained for himself, the sobriquel, of Prosperity Robinson; his Lordship having in the fullness of his heart, said, that the great difficulty of the nation, in the sudden tide of wealth that was to pour in upon us, would be how to spend it.—Some was to be laid to the charge of the Bank, which by the sudden lowering of its discounts, apparently opened the national purse for every hand that would take the trouble to plunge into it. Some to the natural passion of all men for showy speculation, but more than all to the very busy and very knavish intrigues of the whole host of brokers, solicitors, and dealers connected with the money market of England. It is a remarkable instance of the short-sightedness which seizes on the wisest, when avarice once lays hold of them; that with the exception of one or two enterprises, in Spanish and Portuguese colonial mines, there is probably not one of these projects in existence at the present moment. The mere list of them would be curious. Every part of the earth was made the location of some new contrivance for marvellous wealth. Gum companies for Africa—Ivory companies for India—companies for cutting down the American forests, were among the most familiar conceptions. It is equally remarkable, as an instance of the blindness which cannot discover obvious utility, as well as of the precipitation which hurries men into waste, that there was probably not a single attempt, in the whole list, at any of those contrivances for locomotion, which have since opened such important views to mankind."

Harvard University.—We learn that 45 candidates were offered for admission to the University on last commencement, 44 were admitted. The smallness of the number is to be attributed to the difficulties of the times.—Boston Adver.

Late Foreign Intelligence.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 6.

LATE FROM EUROPE.

By the Packet ship U. States, we have London and Liverpool papers to the 7th of August.

The commercial intelligence is favorable. Cotton had advanced a farthing per pound during the week.

The London papers are filled, almost exclusively, with election returns and speeches, and accounts of the riotous proceedings at various places, during the polling. It is stated that at Wakefield, during the nomination of the candidates, no less than fifty thousand people were engaged in battle, at one time, with brick bats and bludgeons. A correspondent of the Journal contrasts very forcibly the quiet and orderly manner in which elections are managed in this country, with the shocking scenes of outrage and disorder exhibited during the recent canvass at Liverpool and elsewhere.

The advices from Paris are to the 3d. There is no intelligence of any interest.

The Liverpool Chronicle announces the arrival of the packet ship England on the 5th, and is happy to state that she brought half a million of dollars to the various houses in Liverpool. The Chronicle says that matters wore an improving appearance in this country.

The Herald states the gain and loss of the Conservatives, as compared with the last Parliament, forty seven gain and and thirty two loss, making a net gain of 15. Of the members gained to the Conservatives were two for Somerset West, one each for Hants, Stafford, and Surrey, two from Norfolk West, two from Worcester East, one from Oxford, and one from East Lothian.

The French Minister was about to make a tour in England for the purpose of examining the system of roads, bridges &c. The reports of the illness of Talleyrand were untrue. He was at Valencay, in excellent health. Letters from Messina to July 8, state that there had been no appearance of cholera. A French expedition was about sailing for Hayti, under the command of Admiral Mackard, for the purpose of bringing the Republic to a settlement under the treaty of 1825.

There was an unfortunate occurrence at the coal mines of Mr. Curwen, at Workington, by which 27 lives were lost, and a large amount of property destroyed. The workings in these mines extended a long distance under the sea, and the miners continued their labor until the space between them was so far reduced that the sea burst suddenly into the mine. There were 57 men and boys in the mine 30 of whom escaped, and the rest were drowned. The mine is rendered forever useless. Most of the sufferers left wives and families.

A most horrid and devastating calamity has overtaken the residents of Sierra Leone. The mortality by yellow fever among the Europeans was dreadful. It was calculated that 40,000 persons had been attacked with it, and its ravages were more frightful than on any former occasion.

Aug. 6.—The foreign papers brought by this morning's mails furnish some details of serious interest with reference to the progress and decrease of the cholera in the respective localities. Letters from Rome to the 20th ultimo, represent the inhabitants as in the greatest terror, in consequence of a report that the Cholera had manifested itself within eight leagues of that city. The Pontifical Government had been officially informed that the disease had broken out at Garigliano or Liri, and Benevento, and it had consequently established a great sanitory cordon at Valmototo.

A letter of the 18th ult, from Naples published in the Augsburg Gazette, gives intelligence of the 16th from Palermo, to the effect that the cholera was on the decline in that city, where the number of deaths amounted to not more than 500 per day. The number of fatal cases had previously been 1500 and 1800 daily and from the middle of June to the middle of the month of July, about 19,000 individuals altogether had died of the disease. Among the last victims to the cholera at Naples, was M. de Viguet, the Sardinian Ambassador to the Neapolitan Court.

The advices from Naples of the 18th ult, as mentioa above, state that the commander of the troops embarked for Sicily on the preceding night had been instructed to land at the distance of ten miles from Palermo. He was invested with full powers to act according to circumstances, and ordered to storm the city in case any resistance was offered. A revolutionary movement had taken place at Messina.

A steamer coming from Palermo having been allowed to communicate freely with the land, the people rose against the authorities, attacked the sanatory establishment, and would have murdered its members if they had not sought safety in flight. All the books and documents of the administration were torn burnt, or thrown into the sea. On receipt of this intelligence the King immediately ordered the 1st Swiss Regiment to embark for Sicily.

With reference to the war in Spain, a letter from Pampeluna of the 27th, states that the expedition of Zariategny, consisting of seven battalions and two squadrons, had finally passed the Ebro, on the 22d, at Piedralata, directing their course towards Santa Casilda. Generals Alcala and Escalera had marched in pursuit of this expedition, the object of which probably was to distruct a portion of the troops that are in the pursuit of Don Carlos.

Twenty-Fifth Congress.

SPECIAL SESSION.

SENATE.—MONDAY, SEPT. 4.

At 12 o'clock, the Vice-President called the Senate to order, about 38 Senators being in their seats.—[Among them, Messrs. Robbins and Knight, from Rhode-Island.]

The new Senators were then qualified and took their seats.

Mr. Wright moved the appointment of a Committee to join such Committee as the House may appoint, to wait on the President, and inform him that the two Houses have organized, and are ready to receive such communications as he may be pleased to make to them. This resolution was adopted.

The Senate then proceeded to ballot for a Sergeant at Arms, when there appeared, for Mr. Haight, an unanimous vote.

The Senate then proceeded to ballot for a doorkeeper to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Mr. Haight to be Sergeant at Arms, when there appeared on the third balloting, 21 votes (out of 40) for E. Wyer, and he was elected accordingly.

The Senate adjourned at 1 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

MONDAY, SEPT. 4.—This being the day designated by the Proclamation of the 15th of May, for the meeting of the 25th Congress, the House was called to order by W. S. Franklin, Clerk of the last Congress, at 12 o'clock precisely.

The Proclamation of the President of the United States calling the Special Session, was read by the Clerk.

The Clerk's Roll of Members of the Twenty-fifth was then called, by States, and the name of Mr. Cushing of Mass. being called, he rose and made a protest, in form, against the legality and propriety of the organization of the House, under the direction of an individual not a member of the House, and also against the recognition of gentlemen as members, upon the authority of the Clerk's Roll made from common fame, merely. He suggested that a more proper mode of proceeding would be first to ascertain who were members of the House, under the direction of a Committee appointed for that purpose.

The call was then continued, until the State of Mississippi was called, when Mr. Mercer, of Virginia, rose and objected to the recognition of Messrs. Claiborne and Gholson as members of the House. He proposed to the gentlemen from Mississippi some question in relation to the legality of the Proclamation of the Governor of Mississippi, designating the time and manner of the election.

Mr. Gholson replied that when the House was duly organized, he would reply to the question of the gentleman, and would satisfy the House that those who had appeared as the representatives from the State were duly and legally elected.

Mr. Mercer did not, he said, doubt the integrity of the reply made by the worthy and honorable gentleman, but he felt bound to make the question as to the legality of the election, believing as he did, that the gentlemen who had appeared as the Representatives of Mississippi were not members of the Twenty-Fifth Congress; and he would not consent to proceed to the election of Speaker until the question was settled. He accordingly submitted the following Resolution:

Resolved, That sufficient evidence has not been offered to the House that the Honorable John G. H. Claiborne and Samuel J. Gholson are legally entitled to seats in this House.

Mr. Claiborne would not, he said, make any reply to suggestions of the gentleman from Virginia, as he protested against any member to question the legality of the election of the members from Mississippi. Elected, as he was, by a majority, and an overwhelming majority of the votes of the free citizens of the State of Mississippi, and in pursuance of the laws of the State of Mississippi and of the Constitution of the United States, he should go to the table and claim the right to be qualified as a member, whatever should be the proceedings and decision of the House on the resolution submitted by the gentleman from Virginia.—He regarded the procedure as unprecedented, and he should resist it as derogatory to the rights of the people of Mississippi.

Mr. Mercer gave his reasons, at some length, for making the question.

Mr. Bynum, of N. C. protested against the whole procedure, as contrary to usage and precedent, and moved that the Resolution be laid on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to, Ayes 131, Noes 5.

Mr. Ruel, of S. C. moved that the Hon. Lewis Williams, of N. C. the oldest member of the House of Representatives, be requested to take the chair of the House, until the House be duly organized.

Mr. Toucey moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Mr. Wise made some suggestions in support of the proposition, denying the right of the clerk to put questions to the House. Mr. Lewis Williams said it had been usual to invest the Clerk with the power to put questions, and he saw no necessity for departing from the usual course.

Mr. Patton of Virginia, spoke in favor of the motion.

On motion, the calling of the roll was completed, when it appeared that 224 members had answered to their names.

The House then proceeded to the election of Speaker. Messrs. Hamer, Jones, and McKennan were appointed tellers; and having counted the ballots, reported the result as follows:

Total number of votes,	224
Necessary for a choice,	113
For James K. Polk,	116
John Bell,	103
Scattering,	5

So James K. Polk was declared to have been duly elected Speaker. He was conducted to the Chair by Messrs. Lawler and Owens, when he made a brief address of thanks.

The House then proceeded to ballot for a Clerk, when Walter S. Franklin received 146 votes, Samuel Shock, of Penn. 48, and 15 votes were cast for other persons.

So Walter S. Franklin was duly chosen Clerk.

The House then, by resolution, re-elected R. Dorsey, Sergeant-at-arms, and Overton Carr, Doorkeeper.

A motion was then made to adopt rules for the government of the House, the Rules and orders of the last Congress; to which Mr. Adams moved an amendment, which gave rise to a debate. Without coming to a vote upon the subject,

The House then adjourned.

SENATE.—TUESDAY, SEPT. 5.

A message was received from the House of Representatives, through Mr. Franklin, their clerk, announcing to the Senate that a quorum of the House had assembled, had elected a Speaker, had concurred with the resolution of the Senate for appointing a committee to wait on the President of the U. S. and had appointed a committee on their part.

Mr. Wright, from the joint committee, then reported, that the committee had performed the duty assigned them, and that the President had expressed to them his intention to communicate to the two houses, in writing, this day, at 12 o'clock.

A Message was accordingly received from the President of the U. S. by Mr. Van Buren, his private Secretary, and was read, the reading occupying an hour and a half.—[For the Message, see extra sheet.]

Mr. Wright moved the printing of 5000 copies of the Message, and 1500 of the accompanying documents.

Mr. Clay, of Kentucky, said he rose to second the motion of the Senator from New-York, (Mr. Wright) to print an extra number of the copies of the Message. He should indeed have no objection to publishing double or triple the number proposed, if it were convenient to distribute them. He had accomplished the sole purpose for which he had risen, but whilst he was up, he could not forbear saying, that after attentively listening to the reading of this Message, he felt the deepest regret, that the President entertaining such views, and proposing such a plan for the relief of the Country, as he had presented, had deemed it his duty to call an Extra Session of Congress at this inconvenient period of the year.

Mr. Buchanan said he did not rise to express any opinion, or to enter into any discussion. "Sufficient for the day," said he, "is the evil thereof." But it was his wish to increase the number of copies to be printed, from five thousand to ten. He thought the former number too small for his proportion of it to satisfy the demand of his constituents

Mr. Wright was ready to accept the proposition as a modification of his original motian, and did so.

The question on printing ten thousand, was then put and carried.

The Senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.—Several members elect, appeared, were qualified, and took their seats.

Mr. Van Buren, private Secretary of the President, came in and presented the Message, which was read at the Clerk's table.—[For Message, see extra.]

Mr. Hamer moved that the Message be lain on the table, and that 10,000 copies be printed for the use of the members.

Mr. Owens, of Geo. moved to amend the motion by substituting 20,000.

Mr. Whittlesey renewed the motion for 10,000

In supporting this motion, Mr. W. observed that he had been much gratified on hearing his colleague limit his original motion to 10,000 copies. He had hailed it as an assurance that the house would commence its duties with a suitable regard to the embarrassed state of the country, and with a firm resolution to expend no more of the public money than the public service should absolutely require. It was a fact known to all, that previous to the year 1829, no more than 5,000 copies of any public documents were printed; in that year the number was doubled; then the number was increased to 15,000; for the last two or three years it had risen to 20,000.

After some debate, 20,000 copies was ordered to be printed, by Yeas 115, and Nays 109.

The Speaker laid before the House, a Report from the Secretary of Treasury, and on motion, 10,000 copies was ordered to be printed.

Printer to the House.

The House then proceeded to ballot for a Printer to the House.

The votes having been counted, were announced as follows:

Total number of votes,	230
Necessary for a choice,	116
For Gales & Seaton,	100
Blair & Rives,	103
Thomas Allen,	22
Duff Green,	1
Blank	1

There being no choice, four more ballots were taken, which resulted nearly the same as at the first ballot.

No choice being made, a motion to adjourn was carried, Ayes 108, Noes 105, and the House then adjourned.

THE NEWPORT MERCURY.

NEWPORT,
SATURDAY, Sept. 9, 1837.

President's Message.

By Steam-Boat on Thursday morning we received the President's Message at the opening of the Special Session of Congress. To enable our readers to receive it entire, we have furnished it to them this day, in an extra sheet.

Report of the Postmaster General.

The Washington papers of Wednesday contain the Report of the Postmaster General to the President. At the close of the Report, he says:—

"On the whole, no legislation is necessary to maintain the credit of this Department, or enable it to manage its fiscal concerns; the existing laws being deemed ample for these purposes."

BROWN UNIVERSITY.

At the Commencement, on Wednesday last, the degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred on 38 young gentlemen.

The degree of Master of Arts was conferred on 18 gentlemen, all alumni.

The honorary degree of A. M. was confered on Dennis H. Mahan, Professor of Civil and Military Engineering at the United States Military Academy, West Pointr

The honorary degree of Doctor in Divinity, was conferred upon the Rev. Jacob Ide, of Medway, Mass. and upon the Rev. William H. Murch, President of the Theological Institution, at Stepney, England.

SUPREME COURT.

The Supreme Judicial Court of this State, which commenced its August term in this town on the 30th ult. has since continued in session.

The Secretary of War has made a call on the Governor of Tennessee, for volunteers for another campaign in Florida The requisition is dated on the 18th of August.

TREASURY DRAFTS.—The New York Journal of Commerce says "One reason for the high price of Treasury Drafts has been the purchase by the U. S. Bank of $2,000,000, to meet the first payment for the government stocks. That movement we believe is completed.

ALABAMA.—The returns from all the counties in Alabama for Governor, give for Bagby, Adm. 24,527; Oliver, Whig 20,419. Maj. for Bagby, 4,108.

MISSISSIPPI.—The Official returns for members to the called Session of Congress are as follows:

Claiborne,	11,263	Prentiss,	7143
Gholson,	9,921	Acee,	6631

MICHIGAN.—Hon. Isaac E. Crary, (Adm.) has been elected to Congress from Michigan by a majority of 390 votes.

General Ripley, member of Congress from Louisiana, is stated on the authority of the New-Orleans Advertiser, to be about to resign his seat, in consequence of continued ill health.

STONINGTON RAIL ROAD.—We are gratified to learn from an authentic source that this great and important work is nearly completed. A thousand men have been at work upon it for three months past. The road is graded the entire distance, and the rails are laid throughout the route, with the exception of a few detached pieces, in all not exceeding a mile. The cars are all finished, and are similar to those used on the Boston and Providence road. The engines which are constructed on the most approved plan, are ready in the car house at Providence; and it is expected the Company will be able to commence business by the 15th of October. The rails used on this road are the T rails of the very best kind, and the masonry is of the most durable description. The houses for the reception of the cars engines, &c. are all finished.

The Company have erected a beautiful Hotel at Stonington for the accommodation of the passengers.

Arrangements are making to obtain two of the most commodious steamboats on the East river, to run from this city to Stonington.

The facilities of this route will secure for it ample patronage, and the various towns on the line will largely contribute to its receipts. There is every reason to believe this road will be as productive as any rail road in the country in the course of two years, the Utica and Camden & Amboy roads excepted.

New York Gazette.

Mr. Clayton made a balloon ascension from Pittsburgh on Wednesday week.

The Express Mail at New-York, on Thursday, brought New-Orleans dates to the 29th. Savannah of the 30th, and Charleston to 31st; they contain only the following:—

The New-Orleans American of August 29th, in contradicting exaggerated reports respecting the yellow fever in that city, says the deaths during the week ending on the preceding Saturday were only one hundred and thirty-two.

VERY LATE FROM ENGLAND.

By the Packet ship United States, at New-York, on Wednesday, from Liverpool, London papers to the 7th of August have been received.

The papers are still filled with the proceedings of the pending elections, which are marked with great spirit, not unattended with outrage.

The Duchess of St. Albans died on the 6th of August.

Exploring Expedition.—The New-York Times says—"From all we can learn, we presume the exploring expedition will soon be ready for sea. Mr. Reynolds' appointment to accompany it will give satisfaction to a large portion of ur citizens,.

NAVAL.—Capt. Lawrence Kearney has been appointed to take charge of the Ohio 74, from New-York to Boston. On her arrival at the latter place, she will be taken into the Dry Dock, for examination.

Capt. M. C. Perry has been appointed to the command of the new steam frigate Fulton, at New-York.

The U. S. ship St. Louis has been promptly ordered by Com. Dallas to Mobile Bay, in order to aid in arresting a gang of desperadoes who have been committing outrages on the inhabitants in Baldwin county, Alabama.

FROM TURKEY.

Advices from Constantintinople to the 12th of July state that the American frigate Constitution was daily expected at that place with Gov. Cass; she was reported at the Dardanelles, where she had been lying for several days. The sch'r Shark had sailed for Athens. The correspondent of the London Morning Herald gives as the following interesting information: "It will be remembered that several months ago the Turkish government asked the government of the United States to send out a few officers for the Ottoman Navy. The President's answer has now been received. He says that in the American service there are no supernumerary officers, and that over such officers as have withdrawn from the service, the government has no control, but that if from among the latter the Sultan can select a few who are willing to join his fleet, the United States can have no objection to his employing them. The Turks do not appear to be over flattered by this evasive reply"

The Correspondent of the New-York Express, at Paris, says, that Professor BACHE, of the Girard College, who is now travelling in France with a view to examine the establishments for education in that country, has received from M. Salvandi, the Minister of Public Instruction, the liberty of free access to all the literary institutions in his department, and a present of every document relative thereto, deposited in the archives of the French Ministry.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—About midnight a fire broke out in the fourth district of the fire division, which destroyed property to a very large amount. It commenced in the three story building, owned and occupied by Messrs. Johnson & Green and known as Nos. 311, 313, 315 and 317 Rivington, and was one hundred feet square. In this building several branches of manufacture were carried on, viz: hair cloth manufactory; cloth pressing and stock factory; a steam saw mill, and and a marble sawing and finishing establishment. The estimated loss is from 150 to $200,000, on which only $5000 was insured.—N. Y. Com.

Crops of the West.—A gentleman who has recently returned from Michigan and Illinois, says, that he passed through districts fifty miles in extent, a great part of which was covered with wheat and oats. The former, it was estimated, would average 45 bushels, and the latter, 65 bushels to the acre.

N. Y. Jour. Commerce.

Cemetery, near Philadelphia.—The stockholders of the Cemetery near Philadelphia, heretofore called Pere la Chaise, have given it the name of the Monumental Cemetery. It has recently received a large accession to the number of stockholders, and it is proposed that the grounds shall be ornamented in a manner suited to the purpose to which they are devoted.

Necessary for a choice, 3798

Among the votes which we have classed as scattering, 72 were for Mr. Dorr, and 28 for Mr. King.

COM. ROGERS.—This distinguished officer of our Navy has returned from his recent visit to Europe, we are happy to hear, in improved health. He reached his residence in this city the day before yesterday. We have been gratified to observe, by a file of English papers received by the late arrivals, that the veteran Commodore was treated, on visiting England with the attentions due to his rank and merits, but honorable at the same time to those who rendered them.

National Intel.

CHOLERA IN CENTRAL AMERICA.—We published on the 7th ult. an account by private letter of the ravages of the cholera in Central America. We find it confirmed by a letter from Grenada, with additional particulars. The letter is dated 2d July;

"The Cholera is now in Leon, committing great ravages among the inhabitants. In St. Salvador, it destroyed 1300 persons in 19 days, and at Tongaiata, 1200 in 21 days, and, in many other villages, two-thirds of the inhabitants have been taken off by this pestilence.

"In two of the Indian villages near St. Salvador, the Indians rose, en masse and butchered many of the inhabitants, stating that the President of the Republic and others, had poisoned all the rivers to kill the poor people and deliver the country up to the English; and, as a farther proof they inquired why have none of the rich died. They actually murdered a poor Englishman who was wandering on the banks of the river Limpa, in quest of a strayed mule, under the pretext that he was going to poison the river—that is, a river as large as San Juan. So general has been the idea that the waters are poisons, that the people here (Granada) will not drink the well water on any account."

INDIAN WAR IN THE NORTH—BATTLE BETWEEN THE FOXES AND SIOUX.—By the slip of the St Louis (Missouri) Republican of Aug. 22, we have official intelligence from Galena to the 19th. A letter from Mr. Geo. Davenport, dated Rock Island, August 10th, transmits the talk delivered to him by two braves of the Upper Fox Indians, by request of the war chief Wau-cosh-au-she, who was lately mortally wounded in an encounter with the Sioux on the Sac and Fox Hunting Grounds. Mr. D. urges the faithfull fulfillment of the government treaties with those Indians. We have purchased of the Sacs and Foxes twenty-six and a half million of acres of the best lands in Illinois, Missouri and Wisconsin, including all the lead mines, for three cents an acre. These tribes have been requesting government to plough and fence for them two sections of land, to enable their women to raise corn on their new residence. They are truly friendly to the whites.—The talk of the chief above was delivered the 8th August. He states that on his return from St. Louis he found his tribe in a starving condition, and that he sat off with 200, chiefly women and children, to hunt up the right bank of the Cedar, where they encountered a hunting party of Winnebagoes. On reaching Otter river, they struck on a large trail of Sioux. As retreat was impossible and disgraceful the chief and about 40 men sat off in pursuit of the Sioux, crossing the Otter river, and proceeding west, and rushed on the Sioux, who were too strong. The Foxes retreated, with 13 wounded, and leaving 11 killed. The chief writes that he is wounded, but does not fear to die.

The Pirates.—We learn that through the vigilance of Col. Hogan, the pirates across the Bay have been dislodged.—Apprehending difficulties which they feared to encounter, they have slackened their moorings and put out to sea.—Mobile Examiner, Aug. 30.

PENMANSHIP.—We refer our readers to the Advertisement of Mr. FOSTER, as to his new and improved system of Writing. This method is highly recommended, and Mr. Foster has obtained great confidence and success in those places in which he has taught this highly useful art. As his stay in town will be limited, we hope he receive from our community, a liberal patronage.

Death of a Member of Congress.—The Nashville Banner of the 24th ult. announces, the death of Col. James Standifer, (Whig) member of Congress for the 4th District of Tennessee. Col. S. died at Kingston, E. T. on his way to Washington City.

The Governor of Tennessee has already ordered a new election to supply this vacancy.

STATE ELECTIONS.

The Election for Governor, &c. in Vermont, took place on Thursday last; that in Maine, will be on Monday next.

Caution to Stage Drivers.—A gentleman of Baltimore, while riding in a gig through the streets of that city, was overset, by the carelessness of a stage driver, in his eagerness to pass another stage. He had his collar bone broken by the accident—and in an action at law to recover damages from the proprietors, he was awarded by the jury, the sum of nine hundred dollars.

The office of the Observer, in Alton, Illinois, an abolition paper, was destroyed on the 21st ult. by a party of citizens.—The press of the establishment was broken into pieces, and the remainder of the materials scattered through the streets. The course of the editor in the cause of Abolition, was the instigation of the destruction of his establishment.

The Provincial Parliament of Lower Canada, which was convened a short time since, has, it appears, been prorogued by order of the Governor, without doing any business.

ITEMS OF NEWS.

The export of specie from New-York for Europe, still continues. The packets of the 1st of September, carried out nearly $400,000.

Custom House Bonds to the amount of $40,000 have laid over at Richmond, so says the Enquirer.

A Mrs. White, residing in Beekman-street, New-York, was killed on Monday last, while in the yard, by the falling of a brick from the chimney.

The harvest and vintage in France were never more promising.

The number of deaths in the City of New-York, for the week ending on Saturday last, was 197,—of which, 98 were children, under two years of age, and 22 between 2 and 5 years.

Quantity of Rain in the month, 3 40-100*ths* Inches.

Mean average for this Month,	66 74
Mean do. of Aug. 1836, the coolest August in last 20 years,	65. 44
Mean do. of Aug. 1820, the warmest Aug't in last 20 years,	73. 16
Mean do. for June, July, Aug. this year.	65. 42
Mean do. do. do. do. last year,	64. 94

REMARKS.—This Month, it appears has been only about one degree warmer than August of last year which was the coolest August on our record, and about 6 degrees cooler than August 1820, the warmest in 20 years. The average of the three Summer months this Year, is only half a degree warmer than those of last Year.

The Month generally has been very cool, with frequent rains.—The crop of Indian Corn is very backward, and should not the present month, (September) be warm, and without any frost, but little of it will ripen, as it is now a very green state.

A severe squall of wind, with rain, was experienced here on the afternoon of the 30th—it blew down many of the fruit and ornamental trees, and our farmers suffered much loss, having their fruit shaken from the trees, stacks of hay scattered, and the orchard trees divested of their limbs.

Resumption of Specie Payments.

The proposition made by certain Banks in New-York to the Banks in Philadelphia, to call a Convention, to adopt measures for the resumption of specie payments, has been declined by the latter, on the ground that it would be superfluous at least, if not injurious, at the present time.

BACON.

THE American Standard System of Writing, which combines elegance with freedom and rapidity of execution, taught in 12 easy lessons of an hour each, by MR. FOSTER, finishing WRITING MASTER.

Mr. Foster, late from New Bedford, where he has received the greatest confidence and success, would respectfully announce his intention of remaining in Newport for a short season, to practice his ingenious & unerring method of Writing. However tremulous and confirmed may be the Chirography of persons of all ages, from 9 to 60, and of every capacity, he will substitute a style of WRITING, the most CELEBRATED AND POPULAR, both in England and America. THE LADIES are taught in 12 lessons, a neat, graceful, elegant and delicate style of writing; the only fashionable one of the day, which is adapted, with a little variation to the man of fashion.

SEPARATE HOURS FOR LADIES CLASSES;—They meet daily at 3 P. M.

JOHN REMINGTON, Probate Clerk.

The following Statement, by John B. Derby, Esq. is copied from the Boston Centinel and Gazette.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The subscriber considers it due to Dr. S. C. HEWETT, (as an act of gratitude) and to his fellow-citizens, (from impulses of humanity,) to describe, briefly the condition of body, out of which he has been rescued, by the skill and practice of the Doctor.

Before applying to Dr H. the subscriber had, (for nearly two years,) suffered a malady, which had so far deprived him of the use of his legs, that he could neither walk nor stand. Every day the loss of power was greater; and the constant sedentary posture to which he was doomed by day, deprived him of refreshing sleep by night.

The want of corporal vigor induced such a prostration of mental energy, that the melancholy prospect opened before him of years of life without action, and without regulated thoughts. And whenever sufficient light broke in upon his benighted mind, to make the darkness that involved his prospects horribly distinct, there fell upon him such an "avalanche" of misery that life itself became a burthen.

By the mercy of God, he is now (in a great degree) restored to the power of motion, (so as to walk) and to serenity of mind, by the skill and exertions of Dr HEWETT, and he publishes this (to him) exhilirating fact, that all those unfortunates, who have pined in hopeless seclusion, or suffered like maladies in "bitterness of hope deferred," may know that there "is balm in Gilead, and a physician there,"—to whom all, who would apply, may be assured, that no suffering, (by rash unskillfulness) awaits them; but that his mode of treatment is as immediately and constantly grateful to their sensations, as the result is successful and salutary.

The Physician above named is Dr. S. C. HEWETT, bone-setter, &c. 297, Washington-st, Boston,

JOHN B. DERBY,
Late Deputy Surveyor of the Customs, Boston.

POETRY.

From the Knickerbocker, for August.

THE SOUL.

BY J. G. PERCIVAL.

Our thoughts are boundless, though our frames are frail,
Our souls immortal, though our limbs decay;
Though darkened in this poor life by a veil
Of suffering, dying matter, we shall play
In truth's eternal sunbeams; on the way
To heaven's high capitol our car shall roll;
The temple of the power whom all obey,
That is the mark we tend to, for the soul
Can take no lower flight, and seek no meaner goal.

I feel it—though the flesh is weak, I feel
The spirit has its energies untamed
By all its fatal wanderings: Time may heal
The wounds which it has suffered; Folly claimed
Too large a portion of our youth; ashamed
Of those low pleasures, it would leap and fly,
And soar on wings of lightning, like the famed
Elijah, when the chariot rushing by,
Bore him, with steeds of fire, triumphant to the sky!

We are as barks afloat upon the sea,
Helmless and oarless when the light has fled
The spirit, whose strong influence can free
The drowsy soul, that slumbers in the dead,
Cold night of moral darkness; from the bed
Of sloth he rouses at her sacred call,
And kindling in the blaze around him shed,
Rends with strong effort sin's debasing thrall,
And gives to God his strength, his heart, his mind, his all.

Our home is not on earth; although we sleep
And sink in seeming death awhile, yet then
Th' awakening voice speaks loudly, & we leap
To life, and energy, and light again:
We cannot slumber always in the den
Of sense and selfishness; the day will break,
Ere we forever leave the haunts of men;
Even at the parting hour, the soul will wake,
Nor like a senseless brute its unknown journey take.

The Song of the Sea-Shell.

BY MRS. ABDY.

I Come from the Ocean—a billow passed o'er me,
And, covered with sea-weeds and glittering foam,
I fell on the sands, and a stranger soon bore me
To deck the gay halls of his far distant home:
Encompassed by exquisite myrtles and roses,
Still, still to the deep I am pining to be;
And the low voice within me my feeling discloses,
And evermore murmurs the sound of the sea!

The skylark at morn pours a carol of pleasure,
At eve the sad nightingale warbles her note,
The harp in our halls nightly sounds a glad measure,
And Beauty's sweet songs on the air lightly float:
Yet I sigh for the loud-breaking billows that tossed me,
I long to the cool coral caverns to flee,
And when guests with officious intrusion accost me,
I answer them still in the strains of the sea.

Since I left the blue deep I am ever regretting,
And mingled with men in the regions above,
I have known them the ties they once cherished forgetting,
Oft trust to new friendship and cling to new love.
Oh, is it so hard to preserve true devotion?—
Let mortals who doubt seek a lesson of me:
I am bound by mysterious links to the ocean,
And no language is mine but the sounds of the sea.

FASHIONABLE FOLLIES.

There are in the United States one hundred thousand young ladies, as Sir Ralph Abercrombie said of those of Scotland, 'the prettiest lasses in a' the world,' who know neither how to toil nor spin, who are yet clothed like the lilies of the valley—who thrumb the piano, and a few more dainty the harp—who walk, as the bible says, softly—who have read romances, and some of them seen the interior of theatres—who have been admired at the examination of their high school, who have wrought algebraic solutions on the black board, who are, in short, the very roses of the garden, the altar of life, who yet, can never expect to be married, or if married, to live without—shall I speak, or forbear?—putting their own lilly-hands to domestic drudgery.

We go into the interior villages of our recent wooden country. The fair one sits down to chuk the wires of the piano.—We see the fingers displayed on the keys, which we are sure never prepared a dinner, nor made a garment for her robustious brothers. We traverse the streets of our cities, and the wires of the piano are thrummed in our ears from every considerable house.

Ask the fair one, when she has beaten all the music out of the keys, 'pretty fair one, canst talk to thy old and sick father, so as to beguile him of the head ache and rheumatism? Thou art a chemist, I remember, at the examination; canst compound, prepare, and afterwards boil, or bake a good pudding? Canst make one of the hundred subordinate ornaments of thy fair person? In short tell us thy use in existence, except to be contemplated as a pretty picture? And how long will any one be amused with the view of a picture, after having surveyed it a dozen times, unless it have a mind, a heart, and we may emphatically add, the perennial value of utility?

Display, notoriety, surface and splendor—these are the first aims of the mothers; and can we expect that the daughters will drink in a better spirit? To play, sing, dress, glide down the dance, and get a husband, is the lesson; not to be qualified to render his home quiet, well ordered, and happy.

It is notorious that there will soon be no intermediate class between those who toil and spin, and those whose claim to be ladies, is founded on their being incapable of any value of utility. All clearly within the purview of the term lady, estimate the clearness of their title precisely in the ratio of their usefulness.

Allow a young lady to have any hand in the adjustment of all the component parts of her dress, each of which has a constant, which only the fleeting fashion of the moment can settle; allow her time to receive morning visitants, and prepare for afternoon appointments and evening parties, and what time has the dear one to spare, to be useful and to do good?—There is somewhere in all this, an enormous miscalculation, an infinite mischief—an evil, not of transitory or minor importance, but fraught with misery and ruin, not only to the fair ones themselves, but to society, and the age.

STRENGTHENING PLASTER or SALVE, vast improvement on the celebrated DR SWEET'S

DR. S. C. HEWETT'S [BOSTON-SETTER] CELEBRATED STRENGTHENING PLASTER.—Dr. H. having been interrupted in his professional pursuits by constant call for this Plaster, has been obliged to offer it for sale. It is recommended to be applied in the following cases, viz:—For pains and weakness in the back, stomach, sides and loins, rheumatism, and the effects of mercury, corns, and the effects and consequence of sprains, dislocations and fractures, and in many cases of felons and ulcerated sores, for cleansing and healing them, and in fact, all weaknesses. Dr. H. does not advertise this Medicine to spunge the public, but because it is a valuable salve, calculated to relieve human suffering. As Dr. H. was a pupil of the late Dr. Job Sweet, he has the advantage of Dr. S's skill, in addition to what he has himself acquired in the course of twelve years of extensive and continual practice. This Plaster he considered a great improvement on any Plaster hitherto offered for sale for the complaints above specified. Dr. H will also prepare Medicines (which will shortly be offered for sale) that are certain cures for the tic dolureux, or neuralgia, and for the hemoroids or piles. No article of medicine will be authorised for sale by Dr. H. unless the label on the same is signed, "S. C. Hewett."

Dr. EVANS' PILLS,

THE CELEBRATED CAMOMILE, or TONIC PILLS of DR. WM. EVANS exert a specific effort on the brain and nervous fluid, so that the palpitating heart, the tremulous hand, the dizzy eye, and the fluttering mind, vanish before their effects, like noxious vapours before the benign influence of the morning sun This tonic medicine is for nervous diseases, general debility, indigestion, and its consequences, as want of appetite, an apparent distention of the stomach, belchings, pain in the stomach, acidity, unpleasant taste in the mouth, rumbling noise in the bowels, nervous symptoms, languidness, when the mind becomes irritable, desponding, thoughtful, melancholy and dejected.

Hypocondriacism, low spirits, palpitation of the heart, nervous irritability, nightmare, disturbed sleep, rheumatism, spasmodic affections, dimness of sight and all other nervous symptoms, Dr. W. Evans' celebrated Tonic Pills will effect a speedy and safe cure.

The various Weaknesses peculiar to the fair sex, come immediately under the power of Dr W. EVANS' Tonic Pills, and ladies of fashion and respectability in this country, as also in Europe, have found them to be the best medical appendage to the toilet they ever met with, recruiting the decayed spirits, dissipating the head ache, dullness and langour, and creating a pleasing vivacity, and chasing away melancholy. They give comfort and strength to the whole system.

THE PATHOLOGY OF PREVALENT DISEASES, PART I, BY DR. WILLIAM EVANS. If the medical maxim be true, that "the knowledge of a disease is half its cure," how greatly is it to be deplored that the knowledge of those prevalent diseases which annually carry off millions of the human race, is not more generally diffused. How lamentable it is that so few of the great human family possess any information upon a subject in which, of all others, they are most vitally interested. It will probably be an incredible marvel to future generations of the world, that the past should have been acquainted with every thing except that which it most concerned them to know.

To convey this knowledge more extensively than has yet been attempted by any other practitioner, and to direct the attention of the afflicted to those few and simple remedies by which many of the most prevalent diseases may be arrested and removed, is the object of Dr. William Evans in this, and other pathological summaries which he will publish upon the authority of the highest medical writers of the age. His instruction will necessarily be brief, but its accuracy will be undeniable.

I. CONSUMPTION.—Of this disease, in one or other of its forms, eight thousand persons have died in the city of New-York, within the last seven years; this is proved by the city bills of mortality; and its victims throughout the country have been in almost the same proportion to the population. Consumption, (or Marasmus Phthisic) is of three kinds, the Catarrhal, the Apostemaous, and the Tubercular. In Catarrhal Consumption, the cough is frequent and violent, with a copious excretion of a thin, offensive, purulent mucus, sometimes, but not frequently, streaked with blood. There is generally a soreness about the chest, with transitory pains shifting from side to side. Its ordinary cause is a neglected cold, and it is therefore a very common kind of consumption in a climate subject to such sudden and extreme changes as ours. 2. In Apostematous Consumption, the cough returns in fits, and is for some time dry, with but very little expectoration, and that very difficult. There is often in this kind, a fixed dull, circumscribed pain in the chest, which is increased by lying upon the side. The dry cough at length changes into a copious expectoration of purulent matter, which occasionally threatens suffocation, although many other painful symptoms are temporarily relieved. At this stage, the disease is rarely if ever cured. 2. In Tubercular Consumption, the cough is short and tickling, and there is often an excretion of the watery, whey-like sanies, sometimes tinged with blood. The pain in the chest is slight, and there is an almost habitual elevation of spirits. This variety is usually the result of a scrofulous taint in the system generally which, when thus seated in the lungs, can seldom be arrested in its fatal progress, unless met in its first advances.

Each of these three varieties of phthiscial consumption begins with the following common symptoms, by removing which it may certainly be cured. The patient is sensible of an unusual languor, breathes with less than his usual freedom, and consequently with more frequent respirations, which sometimes induce him to relieve himself by making a deeper respiration, similar to a sigh. When he does this, he usually feels an uneasiness across the chest; and as these symptoms increase, they are attended with more than ordinary perspiration at night, so as to leave him enfeebled in the morning, disinclined for exertion, and affected with more or less of headache. He coughs occasionally, without complaining of the inconvenience, but if his sleep be not disturbed by coughing, he usually coughs shortly after waking in the morning, gradually becoming more debilitated, and experiencing an aggravation of all the above symptoms. This is the first stage of consumption in general, and this being the only step at which there is any reasonable hope of its being cured, Dr. William Evans will not go on to describe the truly melancholy and dreadful symptoms by which its further fatal stages are characterized. To do this would be unprincipled and unfeeling quackery, for he pretends only that his medicines CURE it in this early stage, however they may RELIEVE it when more advanced.

There is also another kind of Marasmus called Marasmus Atrophica, or gradual wasting away, which cannot properly be termed Consumption, though it is frequently confounded by ignorant pretenders to physic. This disease is marked by a gradual wasting of the body, unaccompanied either by a difficulty of breathing, cough, or any evident fever, but always attended with a loss of appetite, and impaired digestion.—This disease is occasioned either by the insufficient quality or quantity of food, or by the liability of the digestive organs to perform their proper functions; or by two great evacuations of the bowels, of perspiration, or of the other secretions of the body, which it is not necessary to name. All that medicine can do in this case is to strengthen the tone of the stomach and bowels by good tonic & anodyne medicines, such as Camomile, &c. Dr. William Evans has had many cases in which the patients, who were reduced to almost the last stage of atrophy, or little better than skeletons, have been restored to their usual quantity of flesh in two months merely by having their digestive organs strengthened by his tonic or Camomile Pills. Strong or continued purgatives in this case would be certain death.

These are all the diseases that are scientifically classed under the head of Marasmus Phthisis, or Consumption, is the most fatal and prevalent species, and destroys about fifteen hundred persons in the city of New-York alone every year, and who might be cured by the timely use of Dr. Wm. Evans' Tonic or Camomile Pills, but not afterwards by any medicine

Having in Part I. given an accurate and explicit description of the Pathology of two of the most fatal Genera of Human Diseases, Marasmus and Diarrhœa, in all their known varieties; and indicated the most probable and approved means of their cure, Dr. WM. EVANS proceeds to inform the public of the Pathology of others, which are but little understood by any except the regular and well educated members of the medical profession. In thus disseminating among the many, a branch of knowledge which has hitherto been confined to the few, he need not repeat that he considers this information to be vital importance and inestimable valued by his fellow men: What can be of more importance to mankind in the present life, than a knowledge of those diseases which are continually bringing it to a close? And in what knowledge ought mankind to be so thoroughly possessed, as a knowledge of the maladies to which their own persons are exposed? The first disease which Dr. William Evans will describe in this 2d Part of his Pathology, are some of the species of the Genus Limosis, or Morbid Appetite, which forms the fifth Genus of the Order Enterica, of the class Cœliaca; and treat of the principal diseases of the Digestive function and Alimentary canal. Limosis Cardialagia or Cardialgy, an impaired appetite, with a gnawing or burning pain in the stomach or epigastrium, and tendency to faint. This species differs from dyspepsy, which will be described in its proper order, although Cardialgy is sometimes an attendant of Dyspepsy, as it is of a multitude of other complaints. The first symptom is heartburn, a gnawing or burning uneasiness, chiefly felt near the cardia, with a slight tendency to faint. The second symptom is an extension of the pain, to the pit of the stomach; anxiety, nausea, coldness of the extremities, failure of the strength, and a great tendency to faint.—This is called syncoptica, or sinking heartburn. The third symptom is an extension of the burning sensation over the whole region of the stomach, accompanied with the rising of a watery fluid, unusually insipid but sometimes acrid, which is called the water trash. The first symptom is most common, and affects both sexes. The first remedy is a good aromatic tonic, for whilst, magnesia and soda, which are commonly taken in this case, will seldom relieve it for more than half an hour; two or three of the CAMOMILE PILLS, taken in a good draught of moderately warm water, have almost invariably accomplished a cure; their effect on the heart burn of pregnancy, and of children, is always successful. Two of these Pills taken during the height of the symptoms, will generally relieve them immediately, and two of the beautiful APERIENT FAMILY PILLS, taken at bed time, will remove it for a considerable time, even in habits that are most subject to it.

June 24, 1837.
